Why Rinnai Tankless

Rinnai Tankless Water Heaters use natural gas or propane gas to heat water only when needed. When water flow is detected, the Rinnai begins heating water as it passes through its copper heat exchanger. The design of the unit allows it to capture up to 84 percent of the heat energy, making it highly efficient and cost-effective.

When the demand for water ceases, the tankless unit shuts down and uses no electricity. This major advantage over traditional tank-style water heaters.

Contemporary Design

Rinnai's sleek, modern water heater design reflects the innovative technology within. Interior-mount units can be placed in any room with no need to hide them in closets or utility rooms and vent directly to the outside.

Digital Temperature Control

Rinnai's digital controllers allow the homeowner to set water temperature precisely for multiple locations in the home. The MC-91 controller is integrated on the front panel of the interior unit.

Saves Space

Traditional tank water heaters can take up to 16 square feet of valuable floor space. But, the Rinnai unit, only about the size of a carry-on suitcase, can be installed on virtually any wall inside of the home.

Improved Performance and Longevity

Whichever Rinnai Luxury Series Tankless model you choose, you get the benefit of a commercial-grade heat exchanger for optimum durability. In fact, the same LS unit can be used for both residential and commercial applications. Homeowners get the reliability of commercial-grade construction and an industry-leading, 12-year limited warranty. And as of April 1, 2011 Rinnai has offered a limited warranty labor coverage of up to 5 years from the date of purchase on select models with registration of unit within 30 days of purchase. Complete details can be found on www.rinnai.us/warranty.
